FACE OF EASTWING YOUTH FOUNDATION

PROJECT INFORMATION

Presented by
EASTWING YOUTH FOUNDATION

INTRODUCTION

Eastwing Youth Foundation (EYF) is a duly registered non-profit organisation (RC 181520) that provides opportunities for talented but financially handicapped youths to pursue a career in the aviation field.

EYF is a subsidiary of Eastwing Aviation Institute, Enugu.

The foundation is planning to host An Academic Excellence contest titled Face of Eastwing Aviation. Presently, the foundation has two students on scholarship at Eastwing Aviation Institute. It intends to extend the opportunity to more students who make the top ten contestants in the grand finale of the Face of Eastwing Project.

The contest is an opportunity for corporations and brands to associate with a noble effort that will earn them recognition for their contributions to human capacity development. It offers a platform for the noblesse oblige to sponsor less privileged children to attain a dream career in aviation. We are proposing a partnership between EYF and your esteemed organisation as valued partners towards successfully planning and hosting the event.

PARTNERS

The foundation was established on the ideals of its founder, Dr. Christopher, an aeronautical engineer with a doctorate from Moscow State Technical University of Civil Aviation, Russia, whose wealth of experience includes over 30 years in military and civil aviation. He is the founder of Eastwing Aviation Institute.

EYF supports talented and hard-working youths who aspire to have an aviation career but cannot afford the required financial responsibilities.

EYF provides scholarships, special training sessions and skill acquisition programmes.

BREAKDOWN OF THE PROJECT

- a. Project Title: Face of Eastwing Aviation
- b. Project Theme: Growing Dreams: Touching Lives Through Human Development
- c. Project Type: Academic Excellence Competition and Award ceremony

- d. Project Overview

A two-day event aimed at unveiling the opportunities offered by the Eastwing Youth Foundation. The first day features the final selection of the top ten students who will participate in the pageantry and award ceremony slated for day two.

The event will be preceded by an intense sensitisation campaign to attract potential sponsors and partners, on the one hand, and guardians and youths, on the other hand.

- e. Project Targets: Senior secondary school students, applicants seeking admission into tertiary institutions and first-year students of tertiary institutions. They will be tested on science and basic life skills associated with hospitality. Their emotional and social intelligence will also be tested. The preliminaries will run in local schools and culminate in the grand finale for the selection of 10 finalists, and the pageantry and award ceremony that will recognise them as the Best Ten Students in the South East States.

f. Added value

Aside from the pomp, the project is built on a foundation of mentorship by people of high calibre in society. This is calculated to enshrine in society a value system that incentivises youths to be hardworking.

The awards section will also recognise deserving citizens and institutions with awards such as 'Influential Aviation Person South East' and 'Best Science School South East,' amongst others.

g. Anticipated development

It is envisaged that the success of this project will encourage partnerships between EYF and airlines such as Air Peace, United Nigeria, Ibom Air etc, and offer EYF alumni opportunities for industrial training in the aviation sector.

h. Project Date: 16-17th April 2025

i. Project objectives:

1. Conduct educational workshops and distribute informative materials to educate schools in South-Eastern States, targeting more than 5, 000 youths. There will also be training on soft skill on aviation e.g customer care, hospitality management etc.

2. Give Certificate of Participation to all participants in the grand finale of the event.
3. Give the ten best students an award of merit and scholarship to complete a course at the Eastwing Aviation Institute.
4. Offer scholarships, internship placement with partner airlines and all-expense paid vacation outside the country for Best Student who will be crowned the Face of Eastwing.
5. Present award plaques to deserving schools, hotels and influential aviation personnel and Certificate of Participation to the resource persons & volunteer judges.
6. Engage school administrators, community leaders, parents and guardians in interactive sessions and activities to abrogate and disabuse their minds about myths and apathy towards aviation careers.
7. Establish partnerships with other institutes (especially secondary schools), NGOs, and community leaders to ensure the sustainability of the project.
8. Officially unveil the winner of Face of Eastwing through a media tour; mount billboards of Face of Eastwing, and sponsor brands in strategic locations
9. The top ten winners of the Face of Eastwing Aviation competition will embark on an exclusive tour of Enugu State’s premier tourism sites.”

Note: The scholarship is only for the overall winner. And the scholarship for the winner as well as the trip abroad depends on the sponsorship gotten.

We are also thrilled to announce the launch of the inaugural edition of the Eastwing Aviation Journal, a quarterly publication that will explore various sectors, including aviation, tourism, and hospitality. The first edition is set to be released in January 2025.

The Face of Eastwing Aviation project represents a bold commitment to social impact and human development.

It creates an opportunity for youths to belong in something that prepares them for the future, career-wise and in personal endeavours. Brands that align with the ideologies of the foundation stand to benefit from the social recognition that will accrue from their efforts.

By fostering the education of talented individuals who otherwise cannot afford to be trained to have an aviation career, we are contributing our quota to humanity and nation-building.

Together, we can create a social system where financial constraints will no longer be impediments to the attainment of the career goals of young Nigerians.

We are looking forward to a considerate and favourable response. Please accept the assurances of our highest regard.
